High-quality journals covering the entire field.

We are proud to present you with the comprehensive overview of high quality journals within Elsevier’s oncology portfolio in 2015. This catalogue covers 51 journals published by Elsevier in this dynamic field. The list includes flagship titles such as The Lancet Oncology and European Journal of Cancer and journals published on behalf of prestigious societies such as the Society of Gynecologic Oncology, European Society for Surgical Oncology, the European Society for Radiotherapy and Oncology, the Royal College of Radiologists and the American Society for Radiation Oncology. Many of these journals are unique in their own right, but there are also many interdisciplinary aspects that unite them. This catalogue will help you quickly identify high-quality journals that are relevant to your work, or your next research paper.

On every journal’s individual website you will find free online sample issues, the latest issue contents, submission guidelines, new issue email alerts and more. To access the journals’ content online please go to: www.oncologyadvance.com – the gateway to Elsevier’s oncology journals and other relevant news and professional information.

We are also pleased to offer the opportunity to publish your article as open access in many of our oncology journals. Elsevier publishes a growing number of full open access journals, such as Neoplasia, Translational Oncology, Journal of Cancer Policy and Cancer Treatment Communications. Over 1,600 of our established journals now support open access articles.

Elsevier has agreements with funding bodies such as the Wellcome Trust and RCUK to help facilitate open access publication. To find out more please go to: www.elsevier.com/openaccess.

Your contributions as authors, readers, editors and reviewers of our journals are much appreciated and we welcome any feedback you may have about our programme.

Yours sincerely,
Anne Lloyd PhD
